BRAND NEW AUTUMN STOCK OF SHOES.

In July our shoe buyer made his fourth trip to the New England shoe factories. For the fourth time he went among the machines and the workers who make the shoes. He spent a month in the search. He came home loaded with bargain enthusiasm and with his grip stuffed full of duplicate purchases which he made from the manufacturers who make the goods. The middleman wasn't in it. He dealt direct with the people who cut the leather and turn it into the best shoes that are made in any country. We have to offer you an unusually high class aggregation of footwear at an unusually low range of cash cost. We've never had better footwear in our existence, and never in our history have we been able to sell the high qualities at such low cost. For instance, instead of $2.00 or $2.25 we can and will sell you men's solid satin calf shoes for $1.50. We only want a chance to "show you" these goods Then our ladies' solid dongola dress shoes, bought direct from the maker so we can sell them at $1.50, are the match in elegance and wear of any $2.00 shoe on the market, and the equal of most $2.50 lines. ## Great, Successful Dress Goods Buying. For a month in July and August our dress goods buyers were in the Eastern markets earnestly.

searching for the best and freshest and newest things to be bought in autumn and winter dress goods. book in their pocket, and at the National Park Bank, New York City, they had a convenient and flexible bank account. To say that they did not reach the bottom when it came to a question of price would be little short of silly. There, in the second metropolis of the world, they had access to the newest importations in black crepons direct from Bradford, England. The results of that inspection are found in our dress goods department, where you can find a magnificent assortment of these popular fabrics at from 50c to $3.50 per yard. We don't ask you to match them in value or price, because it would be asking an impossibility. Sweeping the wide field of wool and silk and wool dress goods novelties, we invade the artistic and beautiful productions of France, where the tints of the landscapes of that sunny country are blended in the novel effects and colorings. We can show you, also, the best from the looms of the New England States, where, we are proud to say, they are just now equaling the world in their high class productions. All in all, we wish to impress this one idea indelibly on the minds of our large and loyal army of dress goods buyers, and that is that throughout the entire stock we have a far higher class of Dress Goods and a much greater assortment than has ever before been carried by this house. We want you to understand with the clearest distinctness that there is not a retail concern in this Western country that can match our values, nor excel our styles. Read the descriptive lists.

This was brought from the East by Cassius M. Gilbert, who was Mr. Waddingham's confidential agent, and with it he had a request signed by Nannie B. Waddingham, E. G. Stoddard and E. E. Bradley, executors of the estate, who are in Connecticut, that Mr. Gilbert be appointed executor for the estate in Missouri. Judge Guinotte set aside the original will but postponed action on the appointment of Mr. Gilbert as executor until the return to the city of C. O. Tichenor, representing the interests of G. R. Winter, who was associated with Mr. Waddingham in several investments. There is an incumbrance on the estate in Kansas City, which is composed almost wholly of realty, of $125,-000. It will tae a few years to settle up the estate, so that it can be realized on.

At the time of his death Mr. Waddingham was worth about $1,125,000.

WILL OF W. J. FETTER FILED. Value of Estate Not Estimated-Sev. eral Houses and Lots Left to the Widow and Children.

The will of the late W. J. Fetter was filed for probate yesterday, his son, Francis J. Fetter, being named as executor. The total value of the estate is not given, but all of 'the property was left to his wife and children.

The homestead at 1018 Garfield avenue was left to Mrs. Fetter; a house and lot at court, setting aside the will filed last June. The original will was made in Kansas City in 1892 and the one just filed was made in Philadelphia in October, 1897. The witnesses are Samuel B. Huey, Maurice W. Sloan and Marian E. Durard.

Cleaning Out the Jury Wheel.

The county court yesterday took from the jury wheel the names of twenty-five freeholders who have died since their names were put in and added 500 more names to those remaining in the wheel. This revision is necessary at stated intervals, as, unless it is done, it frequently happens that a man is drawn on the jury after he has been dead several months.

The Church of This World is unique in that it does not claim any knowledge revealed or otherwise of the world to come. It confines its labors and its influence to the making of this world a bright and happy abode for the children of men. Dr. happy abode for the children of men. Dr. J. E. Roberts, the eloquent pastor of this populous church, has a sublime faith that somewhere, sometime, he will meet the loved, lost ones, and his intelligent congregation shares with him this inspiring faith. There is only one criticism which Dr. Roberts ever makes on the sectarian churches, and that is when they subordinate present human happiness to promises of future eternal biles. His contention is that it is not necessary to make man miserable here in order to exalt him yonder. The Church of This World is not a church hater, nor a church scoffer. It is made up of a high class of deep-thinking, justice-loving men and women, and it constantly commends sectarian churches and ministers when they subordinate their creeds to do genuine

In regard to the future Dr. Roberts said of his sermons: faced the mystery and trembled; we face faced the mystery and trembled; we face the mystery with confidence and trust. Before their dead, they stood and did not know; before ours, we stand and do not know.
